Frank Wilson Knapp (1860-1939)

Frank W. Knapp was born in 1860, in Etna, Tompkins County, New York, one of 13 children born to Cyrus Knapp (c1830-1922) and Helen Wilson (c1840-1911).

He was a lawyer, having graduated from Cortland Normal School and Cornell Law College in 1893. He moved to Marcellus soon after, and became very involved in the life of the Marcellus Village community.

Frank Knapp married three times, the first to Alice L. Caulfield (1874-1906), who was a teacher in Marcellus. She was one of four children born in Oswego, New York to Unknown and Anna Caulfield, immigrants from Canada and Ireland, respectively. The marriage took place about 1894, according to the 1900 Marcellus Census, and three children were born to this couple, including Edward C. (1895-1991), Margaret C. (1897-1984), and Wilson Frank (1900-1970).

Alice Caulfield Knapp became ill when her youngest child was a small boy. To try to improve her health, Mr. Knapp took his wife to California for a long vacation. It did not help and her ailment was diagnosed as tuberculosis. She remained ill for several years, spending most of the time in bed, finally succumbing to her illness on August 28, 1906. Her three children were then about eleven, nine and six years of age. Rev. James J. Renehan, Pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church at the time, recorded her passing and apparently administered last rites of the Roman Catholic Church. She was buried in Highland Cemetery on August 30, 1906, although SFX Cemetery Records also make note of her interment in that place.

Several years later, Frank Knapp was married a second time, to Marion Pugh (1878-1926), also a school teacher in Marcellus, on August 19, 1909, in the Fairport, NY home of the bride. From this second marriage, Mr. Knapp became the father of two more children including Mable Jane (1911-2007) and John Clyde (1915-1969).

Mrs. Marion Pugh Knapp died in 1926 and Mr. Knapp, still having a number of children at home, married Lillian Blaine, also a teacher, and who had been a close friend of Mr. Knapp's sister, Helen. The marriage took place in Niagara Falls, NY, on December 14, 1927. There was no issue from this third marriage.

As Marcellus entered the 20th century, several men were foremost in the community, and one of them was Frank W. Knapp. When he arrived in the Village in 1894, he opened up a law office in a building that he bought, what was then known as the Gallup Building, on the corner of North and Main Streets. From that time, until his death 45 years later, Frank W. Knapp was involved in virtually every project that was undertaken in the Village. He organized the Marcellus Telephone Company, whose exchange was located in the Hooper Block building at #7 North Street, and early in 1903, the Village Board granted his company permission to set poles and string wires through the streets of Marcellus. These poles were used not only for transmitting telephone messages but for the installation of fire alarm fixtures as well. He organized the first electric company in Marcellus, harnessing the power of Baker's Dam on Nine Mile Creek to bring electricity to the Village in 1907. Later this local source of power was becoming inadequate and a line was extended to Camillus where electricity was obtained from power lines brought into Central New York from Niagara Falls (Heffernan 85).

From The President ...

Where has the summer and fall gone - hard to believe that November is here already. We have begun decorating the House and getting things ready for Santa's visit on Nov 29th. Our open house will be Dec. 8th from 10:00 until 3:00. We hope to see everyone there!

We will have a covered dish Holiday dinner on Dec. 9th at 1:00 at the fire station. Meat and drink will be provided.

Through the winter months we will continue to be open (weather permitting) for tours and family history searches.

Thank you to the village workers for all their help: mowing the lawn, picking up leaves, picking up large artifacts for us and plowing our driveway and parking lot.

Happy Holidays to all!

Peg Nolan ~

December 9th Covered Dish Dinner

The Holiday meeting will be a covered dish dinner at the Firehouse. The Society will provide meat, drink and table settings. Carriebeth will be coordinating the donated dishes so please call her at 673-3187 to let her know what you can bring.

Knapp's company, the Marcellus Lighting Company, was eventually merged with Empire Gas and Electric, the predecessor of the New York State Electric and Gas Company. Knapp was responsible for building several homes in the Village, including his own at #2 Reed Street, a structure that remains a landmark in the Village today. He had a special interest in the success of a local library and in 1913, helped to found what is today the Marcellus Free Library, making available the second floor of his building on Main and North to serve as a repository of books. He served as Village Clerk for almost fifteen years, was involved in the Marcellus Presbyterian Church and other community organizations and seemed to embody the energy and the enthusiasm of the early 20th century. He was "... a man ahead of his time, one with great vision" (Heffernan 84), who loved his adopted community and served it well. When the community needed a "man for all seasons", Frank W. Knapp came forward, and his ambition became a legacy for future generations.

Death claimed Frank W. Knapp on March 17, 1939, survived by his wife, Lillian Blaine Knapp, all five of his children, as well as three sisters and four brothers. Lillian Blaine Knapp died on May 30, 1959 at the home of Miss Helen Knapp in Glenwood, Florida. Frank W. Knapp was buried from his Reed Street home, and interred in Highland Cemetery in Marcellus on March 20, 1939, a man recognized by his community as a prominent citizen and devoted family man.

Edward Moir (1845-1932)

Marcellus Observer Wednesday, September 7, 1932

Beloved Mill Owner Passes to Reward

Edward Moir, president of Crown Mills, Marcellus, died here Aug. 26, after an illness of some time.

Mr. Moir was born in 1845 at Tillacoultry, Clarkmananshire, Scotland. He was the son of John MacFarland Moir, who, like generations of his family before him, had been engaged in the woolen business in Tillacoultry, Alva, Devonside, Dovonvale, and other centers in the Forth District. The family emigrated to Canada when Edward as ten years old and settled at Galt, Waterloo, Province of Ontario.

In his 19th year Edward was apprenticed in the small woolen mill at Galt, where his father had been engaged. A few years later the Moirs built a small mill at Waterloo which they operated for some time, and later Edward took a position with the Paton Manufacturing Co., at Sherbrook, of which his brother-in-law, Andrew Paton, was head. With William Paton, Mr. Moir purchased a mill at Peterboro, Ontario, called the Auburn Mills, which continued under their joint ownership until the death by drowning in 1873 of Mr. Paton. Mr. Moir transferred his activities in 1876 to Cornwall, Ontario, where he operated a mill.

Came to United States in 1884

He moved to the United States in 1884, a change in climate for his wife's health having been recommended. Mr. Moir's first position in the United States was with the Crown Mills, in Marcellus, which he operated for the Crown Mills Co., eventually purchasing that mill.

He bought the Chester Moses Mill in 1890. These two plants at that time consisted of only 20 looms; Mr. Moir increased the equipment to 108 looms and 16 sets of cards, and brought the production up to 15,000 pieces annually. He was constantly planning to enlarge his manufacturing facilities. He employed and housed over 300 workers. It was Mr. Moir's proud boast that he never had a labor dispute in his mills.

While he was known as one of the best woolen manufacturers in the country, he was equally renowned for his knowledge of raw material markets. He was a recognized authority on wool. He activities in the promotion of an ad valorem duty on wool, consistently and vigorously prosecuted for over 30 years, brought him into the political limelight, and while he found himself opposed successfully by the wool growing and worsted spinning interests, he continued to labor for the attainment of this ideal. It was his conviction that the duties, as imposed under the successive Republican administrations, were not framed in the interest of either the wool-growing industry or the consuming public, and he was as outspoken as he was convinced.

Expert on Tariff Laws

Although Mr. Moir left school when he was 12 years of age, his knowledge of tariff legislation was profound and complete. His familiarity with import and consumption statistics since the days of free wool, was unequalled.

Although Mr. Moir left his native land when a mere boy and became a citizen of the United States many years ago, he manifested an active interest in affairs in the old country, maintaining close touch with the principal wool manufacturers there, and making a number of trips to the scene of his boyhood.

Had Many Home Interests

Mr. Moir was president of Marcellus Village when the water system was installed. He was a tireless worker and took great interest in the affairs of his adopted village. For several years he held the position of president of the local Board of Education and was for a long time a trustee of the Presbyterian Church.

Edward Moir has done much for Marcellus. Nearly every worker in the town has at some time or other worked for him and he was highly respected by his employees. He built homes and took a personal interest in their welfare.

Mr. Moir was a past master of the Masonic Lodge at Cornwall, Can., having held this honor over 50 years. This summer a banquet was held at Cornwall in his honor and he was presented with a gold Past Master's medal which he prized very highly. There are perhaps not more than three men in the Dominion who have had the honor that has been bestowed upon Mr. Moir by his fraternal associates.

Marcellus has lost a fine, public-spirited citizen; one who was far-seeing and who had the interests of his town at heart. His record is one to which we can point with pride.

His Kindness a Great Asset

This paper owes Mr. Moir a dept of gratitude because it was Mr. Moir who, many years ago, assisted the late editor in getting a start in Marcellus. Mr. Mowry always held Mr. Moir in the highest esteem and spoke highly and sincerely of the worth of the deceased. Mr. Moir was a true friend to many.

One Hundred Years Ago in Marcellus

Marcellus Observer August 30, 1912

Attention

During the past week so many complaints have been made against bicycle riders on the sidewalks that it has become necessary for the village trustees to consider the advisability of rescinding the privileges granted bicycle riders unless the owners and riders recognize the restriction imposed and cease to be a nuisance and menace to the public that the complaints indicate. On and after September 1st the ordinance will be rigidly enforced and no riding whatever on the sidewalk will be allowed unless they do what the regulations call for. Your rights are on the middle of the roadway. The sidewalks belong to the pedestrians. The bicycle rider has simply been given the privilege to ride thereon while he respects the rights of pedestrians.

Board of Trustees.

OBSERVER-ATIONS

Marauders paid a late visit to fruit trees down North street recently. More unpleasant than the thieving was the language heard. The husband informs us and said to publicly state that the house is now provided with a first class revolver and orders given to shoot into the crowd on its next visit. The law would justify this and shooting is just what every owner ought to serve on thieving trespassers. It is as much stealing to take apples as to steal a horse. This medicine for prowling gypsy bands would clear them from the country.

The village officials can please all residents who take the trolley at Sheehan's by cutting two to half a dozen branches from the apple trees near the shelter. Not many to cut. All of them are low, but only a few require the "low bridge" dodge to escape them. This is out of the corporation, too. Why will not the owner of this spot accept this as a hint and engage a highly commendable 15 minutes cutting off these few sprigs.

Marcellus Observer, November. 8, 1912

A Kansas Editor Says:

Most anyone can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days in a week, four weeks in the month, and 12 months of the year, and "edit" such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones, of Cactus Creek, let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the Public Square."
